“AFCTS Expands Into Midwest”

American Funeral & Cemetery Trust Services (AFCTS), America’s premier provider of Master Trust and Trust Administrative Services, continues its national expansion to include Midwest states.

AFCTS, once known only as a western regional provider of Trust services for independent funeral homes and cemeteries, now serves clients in most regions of the US including Hawaii, Texas, Ohio, Georgia, and New York. Craig Martin, newly appointed Vice President and Chief Financial Officer and son of AFCTS founder, Hal K. Martin, announced the Midwest expansion: “AFCTS is continually being drawn to develop Trust services in more and more geographical areas; our expansion into the Midwest was a natural progression and the result of client funeral homes and cemeteries seeking our services.”

Funeral & cemetery industry knowledge, a high level of personal service, state of the art computer software and more than 60 years of combined death care experience sets AFCTS apart from all other Trust service providers. AFCTS is also quickly becoming the choice of State Funeral Director Associations and now provides Trust services for the California Association, Virginia Association, and is currently developing a Trust for the Nebraska Association. Chuck Wetmore, Director of Corporate Development at AFCTS stated that: “Funeral directors simply like our hands-on personal approach; our clients are our best recommendation.”

For more information about the features, benefits and service provided by AFCTS, please visit our website at www.AFCTS.com or call Chuck Wetmore at 800-769-9363.
